Planning Permission

Please be aware that your chicken coop may require planning permission you must make a planning pre-application enquiry with North Devon Council, Planning Department, Civic Centre, North Walk, Barnstaple, Devon, EX31 IEA, alternatively you can telephone 01271 327711 or email customerservices@northdevon.gov.uk.

Do you require planning permission for the erection of a chicken coop on your allotment plot? Yes No

If yes, you must provide Barnstaple Town Council with a copy of the approved planning consent issued by North Devon Council.

The Town Council expects all tenants to follow the guidance provided to keep poultry on allotment sites. If a tenant is in breach of this guidance the Town Council may withdraw their application and prevent them from keeping poultry on the allotment site in the future. If the allotment site does not have a communal composting area tenants must compost all waste generated from the keeping of chicken/hens within their own allotment plot.

Your application must be accompanied by sketched plans showing the location and size of the proposed chicken coop in relations to your allotment plot as stated in your allotment agreement

By signing below you are confirming that the details provided on this form are correct to the best of your knowledge, and that you agree to abide by the rules and conditions as stipulated by the Town Council.
